NON-PARTISAN LEAGUE SUGGESTS CANDIDATES

Names of Men to be Backed by Organization Selected

TWO BALLOTS TAKEN

Decision Reached at Well Attended Meeting at Fifth Street School

Names of candidates recommended for consideration of the voters at the coming primaries—the candidates to be placed on the three leading tickets, if agreeable to the ones named—were decided upon by the Non-Partisan league of Charleroi at a meeting held Monday night. There was a good attendance at the meeting which was held in the fifth street school building. A number of names were presented for the various places, and the final results after two ballots were:

For burgess—Dr. J. W. Maner
For council—Carl Cowan, Herman Heupel, R. S. Mooney, Dr. H. J. Reynolds.
For school director—John H. Frye, H. J. Booth.

According to the regulations, provisions are made for putting forth names of candidates in places where those suggest the name to run, or decline to be known as the league's candidates. The names are simply recommendations though it seems to be the intention of the league to place each name on the Washington Republican and Democratic tickets. The league will back their candidates for the nomination on all three parties.

FULLICK NOT TO BE FOUND WHEN WANTED

E. C. Fullick, former justice of the peace of Cecil township, who last week made a sensational statement in the Washington county court in reference to the illegal manner in which he had been conducting his office and extorting money from persons violating the laws, failed to appear in court before Judge J. A. McIlwaine Monday, when he was to be paroled. An investigation was made and it was found that Fullick disappeared from his home last Saturday and had not been seen since.

By reason of the complete confession made by Fullick he was to be paroled on condition that he returned all of the money extorted and paid the costs. When Fullick failed to appear, District Attorney R. G. Miller asked the court to issue a bench warrant for his apprehension. He was out on $500 bail.

The Marianna mines are still placing additional men, and expect by the middle of September to have 1600 men working at this big plant. There are now 1100 men working there, and the town has grown very rapidly.

DETAILS ARE TOLD OF DEATH

John Evans Expired at His Home in Carnarvon Some Weeks Ago

WELL KNOWN SINGER

In a letter to Miss Minnie B. Richardson of Lincoln avenue, Miss Willie Evans, of Carnarvon, North Wales, details the circumstances of the death of her brother, "Johnnie" Evans, a young singer who became well known to Charleroi people some time ago when he was the singer at the Palace Theatre. "Johnnie" as his friends knew him here died on May 6. The letter to Miss Richardson has just been received being under date of August 6.

Enclosed with the Carnarvon letter was a newspaper clipping, part of which follows: "Mr. Evans was well known as a singer and it will be remembered that he left for America about five years ago, where he became widely known as 'The Welsh Tenor'." Some years ago the deceased took part in the various concerts held in town, always giving the utmost satisfaction. Later he went to South Wales, again making a mark as a singer, but it was not until he went to America that he won fame. The deceased had taken part with the Mountain Ash Royal Welsh Male Voice choir. After leaving for Montreal Mr. Evans took the part of leading tenor at many American theatres, viz: Palace theatre, Charleroi; Massell's, Atlanta, Ga.; Empress, Toledo, where he was regarded as a singer of great talent and ability. The deceased was also highly respected by all who knew him. In a letter to the deceased Dr. Dan Protheroe, of Chicago, spoke of him as a star singer. Dr. Protheroe added that he was employed with great talent. Dr. D. Gansauus, a famous American pre-

BEALLSVILLE HAS NARROW ESCAPE FROM BAD FIRE

Damage to the extent of $500 was done Monday evening at the home of Samuel C. Cole in Main street when fire of mysterious origin broke out. But for the timely discovery of the blaze by eight-year-old J. R. Cole and the hard work of the volunteer fire department of Beallsville it is likely the Cole residence with all its contents would have gone up in smoke.

At about 8 o'clock Monday evening Mrs. Cole and the children were seated in a room on the first floor of their residence when J. R. Cole, the boy, started for the kitchen. He noticed smoke coming from a kitchen cupboard into which his father, an engineer employed at Cokeburg, had earlier thrown a pair of greasy overalls. The boy quickly notified his parents and the alarm was spread.

The volunteer fire fighters responded right promptly. The flames had spread from the cupboard to a room on the second floor but by hard work the bucket brigade and the fire fighters succeeded in checking the fire before it had progressed far.

Ten years ago Mr. Cole's former home there was burned to the ground.

RAID RESULTS IN BUT THREE ARRESTS

Detective Hilton, of Monongahela, aided by Chief of Police Chester, of that city, made a raid on a supposed North Charleroi disorderly house Monday morning at about 4 o'clock. Three were arrested, two women and one man. The women were, it is stated, D. Redmond and Margaret Lathor and the man's name is given as Luther Clifford. It is said there was a small child at the place that was a child of the first named woman.

The Lady Maccabees Social will hold an ice cream social at Mrs. Arnold's, 821 McKean avenue on Tuesday evening. Everybody welcome.

cher, also took personal interest in Mr. Evans' career. Unfortunately, his health broke down at New Orleans, where he was attacked by malaria and typhoid fever immediately after finishing his part at one of the theatres he was added to go into a infirmary, where he was attended for several months, and at last decided to return home, where he passed away at the age of 25 years. The deepest sympathy is extended to the father and mother, three sisters, and two brothers, who are left to mourn his loss.

The first class will be pleasure cars, the second class will be trucks, the third class will be heavy trucks, the fourth class will be heavy trucks, the fifth class will be heavy trucks, the sixth class will be heavy trucks.

Mitchell, one of Charleroi's younger business men, is today announcing as a candidate on the Washington party ticket for the office of tax collector. Mr. Mitchell is a young man who has been during six years residence in Charleroi alive to opportunities, and is regarded as an expert in accounting work. He served two years as a borough auditor and his reports were models of neatness and accuracy.

In asking the support of the voters at the primaries Mr. Mitchell presents a platform, the principal planks of which are efficiency and ability. He has the backing of some of the community leaders in his candidacy and they are confident he will serve well the public in the office, if elected.

TWO BIG PICNICS AT PARK

Eldora to be Scene of Outings of Valley People This Week

COMMITTEES AT WORK

Much anticipation is felt in the three big picnics that will take place this week at Eldora park. The first, to be held by the Lady Maccabees will draw crowds from all along the Monongahela valley, the general committee from the General Picnic Association of Lady Maccabees, extended an invitation to nearly all the wives of the valley to be present. Their day is Wednesday.

Monongahela's outing day is to be Thursday of this week, and the general committee of which Capt. E. W. Hartland, of the Tenth Regiment is the chairman has arranged a program of events. It is believed this picnic will be one of the shining features of the entire year at Eldora.

By a slight shifting of the scenes Donora will have a picnic and outing Friday, arranged by the six Protestant Sunday schools from there. These church people are planning to invade the park in numbers, and are anticipating one of the best outings held by churches this year.

CANDIDATES FILE OFFICE PETITIONS

Candidates for office are now busy getting their papers filed for office. Charleroi will have at least one candidate for a county office on a Socialist ticket, and this will be Louis Gansauus, who will seek the nomination for jury commissioner. Leroy Bruce, of Allenport, is the Socialist's candidate for the office of county controller. Among the petitions filed Monday was that of Delbert Carson, of Charleroi, for council.

Body of Fayette Citan Discovered Thirty Feet From Shore

EVIDENTLY A MINER

Pay Check in Pocket From Apotlo Mine—Drowned Several Days Ago

Thirty feet or more from shore about 200 yards above the Allenport ferry on the Washington county side of the river this morning, the body of a "float" was discovered. A boy by the name of Jones made the find, and he notified some men nearby, who pulled the body into the shore. Coroner James T. Heffner was notified and he had the body brought to Charleroi to the undertaking rooms of Lawrence B. Frye. Identification was made. The man was Charles Kator of Fayette City.

The body is somewhat decomposed. It is believed to have come to the surface in a floating near the point where it was found by the boy. In a pocket was found a pay slip, bearing the words, "Monongahela Consolidated Coal and Coke company, Apollo mine, pay ending July 31, 1913." It is the theory that the man was drowned probably about the first of August, evidently by falling from a boat. The body was found at eight o'clock this morning.

A foreigner was here from Fayette City this morning, and said that while he did not know the man, he would get the president of a Fayette City society to come here, and he would probably be able to recognize the body. The man was dressed in working clothes.

WELL KNOWN MAN IS DEAD

William Ewing, aged 74 years, died at his home in Monongahela Sunday night at about 10 o'clock after an illness of some duration. The funeral will take place on Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 with services at the late home. Interment will be in the Monongahela cemetery. Mr. Ewing was well known in Charleroi. He was a Mason, though not a member of Charleroi Lodge, No. 615.

LAWYERS AND POLITICS

The application at the next general election of the new law relating to the election of county judges, seems likely to mark the passing of most attorneys from the leadership of political parties according to the New Castle News. The new law takes the judiciary out of politics. And, inasmuch as a hope of being elected to the bench some time has been one of the impulses leading lawyers to get into the political arena, there is a good chance now that most of them will remain out of politics and will leave party leadership to other classes of men.

For many years attorneys have, as a rule, stood at the head of political movements. They have always been active in politics, partly perhaps because they nearly always had time for such matters. A young lawyer without any practice nearly always devoted his excess energy to politics, and with a considerable measure of success. And having established his leadership, he has often made his activities a stepping stone to the bench.

In the future the county judiciary of the state is promised to be as nearly non-partisan as the law can make it, and it will behoove attorneys with ambitions to occupy seats on the bench to remain non-partisan, and to be known as little as possible in political battles.

The inevitable result is believed to be the passing of the erstwhile leaders from the political arena and their replacement by farmers, merchants, bankers and others.

OUR MUSICAL TASTE

"America is engulfed in a sea of musical trash says the Cleveland

Plain Dealer." The young person who really likes good music is either looked upon with scorn and pity, or condemned as "affected" and hypocritical. If one does not enjoy "Hitchy-Koo" one is an old foggy, or worse.

"And just at this time the centenary of the birth of Richard Wagner is being observed the world over. The man who made modern music, who did not kill the older classical music, is honored everywhere. In American cities there are a discriminating few who really understand Wagner, and enough others who pretend to understand him or who honestly like him, without understanding, to provide a sizeable audience for a Wagner concert.

Spt our young people—the one who should have the most music in their souls—are with comparatively few exceptions, devotees to ragtime.

"Hitchy-Koo" to "Das Rheingold"

They are, of course, beyond scolding.

You cannot scold musical taste into any one. And they have brains enough to be worthy of better things.

The trouble is that they are blindly following a craze, they are afraid of being considered not up-to-date—

PICKED UP IN PASSING

At the ninth annual harvest home and picnic of the Rostraver township people at McClain's grove back of Belle Vernon Saturday afternoon,

Prof. Ulery, of the Fayette county schools, one of the speakers, told a good story, illustrating his speech.

He said his speech would be like the Hebrew's wife. Of this he said:

"Two Hebrews met and started the discussion of the relative merits of their wives. One, whom we will call Isaac, pronounced his wife a good cook, a fine baker and a most proficient housekeeper. Yet she was only 29 years old.

"Well," said Solomon, "I have a good wife. She is a good cook, a fine baker and an excellent housekeeper and she is only 29 years old, but she has been marked down to 17."

"Why I haven't seen you for months. Where have you been all the time?" A young man asked a young woman acquaintance the question when he saw her waiting on a car.

Conversation did not last. Both seemed vivacious, and she suspiciously happy.

"Do you still live at ——" he

asked.

"Oh, no, I don't live there now," and she smiled amusedly. "I haven't lived there for about six weeks."

"Well, I didn't know that. But I saw your sister." They are still living at ——" he

asked.

"Oh, did you see them? No, I don't get here very often now."

"That's what I thought. But say, why are you smiling so serenely?"

"Me! Why didn't you know, I'm married! now."

"Excuse me, please, here's a man looking for me."

FORGERY CHARGE PROVED AGAINST CHARLEROI MAN

Leon Londo, of Charleroi, was convicted Monday afternoon of a charge of forgery. He was alleged to have forged a check, to which he attached the signature of the Belle

Vernon Construction Co. He was directed to pay the costs, fine of $1 and to undergo imprisonment in the work house for a year and six months.

In criminal court Monday before any cases were called, sentence was pronounced upon several pleaders.

The August term of criminal court was convened at 10 o'clock. Just 15 jurymen answered roll call, and on this account none was excused. Judge

R. S. Hilt, of Beaver county, will sit in court room No. 2 this week, and cases.

Toy and Virginia Aronoff, of Canonsburg, charged with selling liquor without license and on Sunday, appeared for sentence. They had already entered pleas of guilty and sentence was postponed until Monday.

Mrs. Aronoff was paroled on payment of costs. She has a babe in arms, and several other children to look after. The husband was directed to pay the costs, a fine of $500, and to undergo imprisonment in the county jail for three months, on the first charge and to pay the costs, fine of $50 and to undergo imprisonment for 20 days on the second charge, the sentences to run concurrent.

Sam Piccolo, a well-known Canonsburg Italian merchant, entered a plea of guilty to selling liquor without licence. The case against the defendant was formerly postponed on account of the defendant having planned a trip to his old home in Italy. He has just returned from a six months' visit. Sentence was postponed upon motion of the district attorney, until the first Monday in September.

Joe Motic, of Canonsburg, was found guilty of violating the liquor laws. He was directed to pay the costs, fine of $500 and to undergo imprisonment in the county jail for three months. Joe Simon was found guilty of an assault upon Adam Sal-insky at Canonsburg. He was fined $50 and costs.

I. Independents Societe, Charleroi.

John Kramp, of Elco, who last June cut his wife severely with a razor and then cut his own throat, is on trial on the charge of felonious assault upon his wife.

John Rudy, of Canonsburg, charged with violating the liquor laws, was paroled on payment of costs. Rudy's offense was committed more than a year ago. The district attorney stated that after he learned Rudy was violating the liquor laws, he had notified an officer to warn him against what he was doing. This was done and Rudy, it was reported to the district attorney, did stop and had not since been violating the law. The prosecutor in the case just disposed of, and the defendant, had a falling out, and as a result the charge was brought against Rudy.

Mike Barto, a miner employed at Dunkirk, admitted violating the mining laws in not putting in safety posts in the mine, where ordered to do so by the fire boss. Alexander McCane, mine inspector, was the prosecutor.

The defendant was directed to pay the costs and a fine of $25.

Hugh McCormick, of Dunkirk, admitted making an assault upon Marie

Ulliskey. She said he insulted her and that when she resented his approaches, he threatened to do her bodily harm, with a penknife. McCormick's excuse was that he was drunk.

He was directed to pay the costs and a fine of $1, and to undergo imprisonment in the county jail for three months.

The Dog Was Going Fast.

A Maine man tells a story of a friend of his in the west who was induced by a stranger to buy what was claimed by the latter to be the best wolf dog in the country. A few days later the man took his new purchase and started out early in the morning to try him out.

The dog soon picked up the scent and started off, the man following on horseback. The dog was soon out of sight,

J. W. BERRYMAN & SON "CHARLEROI'S BIG STORE"

A Case of Overreaching

By DOROTHEA HALE

Herman Gottz was a very old man. He had received no education in his youth; consequently he had been obliged to do very ordinary work, which had paid him very little. He had had children, but they had died, and he and his wife had no one to rely on in their old age, when they were unable to work. There seemed nothing for them to do but go to the poorhouse, and there is something so melancholy about it that many would rather die than resort to it.

One day Herman while walking along the street found a large pocketbook, one of that kind that will hold a bank bill without its being folded. Herman opened it and saw that it contained $270. He looked about him to see if any one was near who might have dropped it, but there was no one at all in sight. So he put it in his pocket and took it home to his wife.

Maria, to consult with her as to what he should do with it. Maria asked her neighbors how one could find the owner of a pocketbook lost on the street and was told to look in the newspapers, for the owner would doubtless advertise it and would offer a reward for its return. So the next morning Herman went to a reading room for poor persons and looked through all the morning papers, for he could read and write also, though very badly. In one of the papers he found the advertisement he was looking for. It stated that a pocketbook had been lost near where Herman had found it and if returned a third of the contents would be given the finder.

The habit of honesty was firmly fixed on the old man. Indeed, he had never in his life taken anything that did not belong to him, and it was too late for him to begin. If he should keep the money it would trouble him and it would not likely last him as long as he lived anyway. If he returned it he would get a third of it, which would keep him and Maria for several months.

He took the pocketbook to the owner, who at first praised him very highly for his honesty. Indeed, he was so loud in his praise that he forgot to count out the money for the reward. When Herman asked him for it he opened all the different compartments as though looking for something, then began to abuse the old man, saying that there had been much more money in the pocketbook than he now found there. Herman denied having taken anything out of it, whereupon the man began to curse and to swear at Herman, calling him a thief, and, snatching him to the door, put him out, giving him a kick at the same time.

It happened that a policeman was going by the house at the time and asked what was the matter. The owner of the pocketbook told his story, and Herman charged him with refusing to pay the reward he had offered, besides assaulting him. The policeman took them to the station, where he entered a charge of disorderly conduct against both of them in order that the matter might be thrashed out in court.

The next morning they were brought into court with other prisoners, and when their case was called the judge asked for a statement of facts. It was soon made evident to him that Herman had been beaten out of his reward. He also got from the old man that he was too old to work and that he and his wife were about to go to the poorhouse. Honesty under such circumstances made a very favorable impression, while the conduct of the owner of the pocketbook appeared very reprehensible.

"You say," said the judge to the latter, "that there was much more money in the pocketbook than was returned?" "Yes, your honor."

"How much more?" "There were seven $1,000 and four $500 bills, in all $9,000."

"How did you happen to have so much money in such a place?" "I have carried it there for several years. I don't put money in bank. I don't like banks."

"Wasn't it rather an unsafe way to carry bills?"

The prisoner saw that he was getting tied up by the judge in his statements and looked confused.

"Were these bills in the same part of the pocketbook," asked the judge, "as the money returned?"

"No, your honor; they were in a compartment by themselves."

"Which compartment?"

The man looked more confused than ever at this. The judge called for the pocketbook and asked the prisoner to show him just where the bills had been kept. The man then confessed that they were in a part which was sewed together. He examined the pocketbook closely and, feeling a thick part, took out a knife and, ripping it open, extracted the bills exactly as the prisoner named them.

"You are a truthful fellow," said the judge. "What reward did you offer for the return of your property?"

The man did not reply, and the judge called for the advertisement, which Herman produced.

"You offered one-third of the contents of the pocketbook," continued the judge. Then he handed Herman $3,000, being one-third of the whole contents of the pocketbook, at the same time telling the other that if he troubled the old man and came into court again he would find a way to punish him.

HOW THIS WOMAN FOUND HEALTH

Would not give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for All Rest of Medicine in the World.

Utica, Ohio.--"I suffered everything from a female weakness after baby came. I had numb spells and was dizzy, had black spots before my eyes, my back ached and I was so weak I could hardly stand up. My face was yellow, even my fingernails were colorless and I had displacement. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and now I am stout, well and healthy. I can do all my own work and can walk to town and back and not get tired. I would not give your Vegetable Compound for all the rest of the medicines in the world. I tried doctor's medicines and they did me no good."

Mrs. MARY EARLEWIDE, R.F.D. No. 3, Utica, Ohio.

Nebo, Ill.--"I was bothered for ten years with female troubles and the doctors did not help me. I was so weak and nervous that I could not do my work and every month I had to spend a few days in bed. I read so many letters about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound curing female troubles that I got a bottle of it. It did me more good than anything else I ever took and now I have cured me. I feel better than I have for years and tell everybody what the Compound has done for me. I believe I would not be living to-day but for that."

I feel better than I have for years and tell everybody what the Compound has done for me. I believe I would not be living to-day but for that."

Mrs. MARTIN GREENSTRAET, Nebo, Illinois.

Compound and now I am stout, well and healthy. I can do all my own work and can walk to town and back and not get tired. I would not give your Vegetable Compound for all the rest of the medicines in the world. I tried doctor's medicines and they did me no good."

TIGHT SKIRTS THE CAUSE OF MANY DOWNFALLS

A short time ago the Pennsylvania Railroad called public attention to the fact that high heels and hobble skirts were responsible for a large proportion of the injuries sustained by women while getting on and off trains, and mounting and descending stairways in stations. The injuries ranged from slight contusions to painful sprains and cuts.

That such accidents are becoming more rather than less frequent is indicated by the following reports received at Philadelphia of such accidents on the Pennsylvania Railroad the past few days:

Altoona, Pa., August 11, 1913.
"At 9:16 a. m., yesterday, Miss _____ of Malvern, Pa., slipped on steps of coach on train No. 312, at Frazer station, injuring her left leg. There was nothing on steps of coach to cause her to slip."

"Altoona, Pa., August 11, 1913.
"At 4:15 this p. m., while train No. 1072 was discharging passengers at Mifflin, Pa., Middle Division, Mrs. _____ of Lewistown, Pa., a passenger in getting off coach 3037, slipped on top step and fell to platform, lighting on her feet. Steps of coach examined, but no defects found."

Wilmington, Del., August 12, 1913
"Mrs. _____ of Chicago, Ill., a passenger on Central Division train No. 4348, slipped down two steps of coach 329 at Oxford, Pa., this p. m. Steps in good condition."

West Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 12, 1913.
"At 12:10 p. m., August 11, on the grand stairway of Broad Street Station, Philadelphia, Mrs. _____, a National Park, N. J., while descending the stairs, caught her heel on edge of step, and fell, sustaining a bruise of right chest and leg."

"New York, August 13, 1913.
"This a. m., Miss _____, aged 60 years, Philadelphia, passenger from train No. 333, fell while descending stairway leading from island platform to tunnel at North Philadelphia."

"Pittsburgh, Pa., August 13, 1913.
"At 5:31 p. m., Mrs. _____, age thirty years, residence Pittsburgh, Pa., a passenger, while getting off Pittsburgh Division train No. 435 at East Liberty station, in going down steps of coach 2939 in some manner tripped or stumbled and fell partly down steps."
